Students Lead Parade in Which Massacre of Aliens Is Urged

PEKING, Jan. 12.—(Delayed).—Strong anti-foreign feeling as a result of the Washington conference, fostered by students and reported to have been secretly abetted by the military governor, Fong Yu-Hsiang, which ran high at the beginning of the year in Shensi province, for the first time in the history of anti-foreign outbreaks, there was directed against Americans as well as other outsiders. Returned travelers say that during Christmas week foreigners in Shensi were in a dangerous position but that since that time the feeling has died down.

Students marched through the streets shouting, "Down with Japan. Down with America. Kill all foreigners" and distributing posters and handbills calling on the populace to drive out and massacre the aliens, particularly Americans. The belief that the United States had given way to Japan at the Washington conference and a strong feeling against the four-power treaty were given as reasons for the outbreak.

The province of Shensi has been the scene of a number of anti-foreign outbreaks in the past. In 1911 several foreigners lost their lives during riots there.

Topnotch Bill Delights
Pantages Patrons at the Orpheum

Days of the untamed west are revived by Arizona Joe and his company of riders in the feature act of the Pantages vaudeville bill, the latter of which is the first of its kind in the theatre this week. With two other cowboys, a cowgirl, a woman vocalist, and a comedian, rodeo feats are carried through as far as the theatre permits, even including the riding of a fiery broncho. Roping tricks by the dozen are introduced. Some fine specimens of horse flesh, including beautifully marked pintos, come with the act. The whole performance moves with speed and is marked throughout with laughter and excitement.

Provoking unrestrained laughter, Carl Byal and Dora Early draw extraordinary applause with their original songs and scenic acts, the latter being a girl comedian of unusual attainments. The night of Miss Early in Scotch costume and pirate boots is one which won't be forgotten very soon.

Johnny Small and a pair of fair maids gain approval in an elaborately staged musical comedy act in which singing and dancing are the principal components. Their offering is styled "Puppy Love" and has to do with the rivalry of the pair for his affections. The three Alex, a novelty, equilibrist, present daring feats, but in a rather different manner. This, together with Bernard and Ferris in "Out of the Kitchen," the latter appearing in a laughable vocal act, was found highly pleasing.

Charlie Murray, the movie comedian who was here in person a few months ago, takes the lead part in the Mack Sennett production, "Love, Honor and Behave," a five-part comedy which is one of the most ingenious and thoroughly enjoyable that Ogdan audiences have seen for many a day.

Queer Situations Seen in
'Saturday Night' at the Alhambra Sunday

Nothing in years has so astounded New York society as the marriage last Saturday, of Richard Prentiss, heir to the Prentiss millions, to the daughter of a washer-woman—Shamrock O'Day. The sudden wedding is all the more surprising in view of the fact that only a few days ago Mr. Prentiss's engagement to Iris van Suydam was formally announced.

"It is simply a case of real love breaking class barriers," said Mr. Prentiss when questioned this morning. "Shamrock is the girl of my dreams. What matter if she lacks superficial culture? That is not half so important as genuine womanly worth. I am sure we will be very happy."

Mr. Prentiss's mother and sister could not be seen this morning, and it is reported they are greatly broken up over the affair.

The marriage, it is said, is the culmination of a secret romance which began some months ago, when the former Miss O'Day met the young millionaire as she was delivering a basket of laundry to his home. Since that time, although he was engaged to Miss van Suydam, Mr. Prentiss has been seeing the young woman continually.

Both Mr. Prentiss and his bride are under engagement to appear at the Alhambra theatre next Sunday when Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount picture production of "Saturday Night" will be the bill. It is hinted in exclusive quarters that they will take part in the production, but in what capacity will not be revealed until the picture is shown. Manager Skinner refused to discuss the matter when questioned regarding the matter. He admitted, however, that all the facts will be made public before next Saturday night.

'Just Around the Corner,' at Alhambra Now Wins Approval

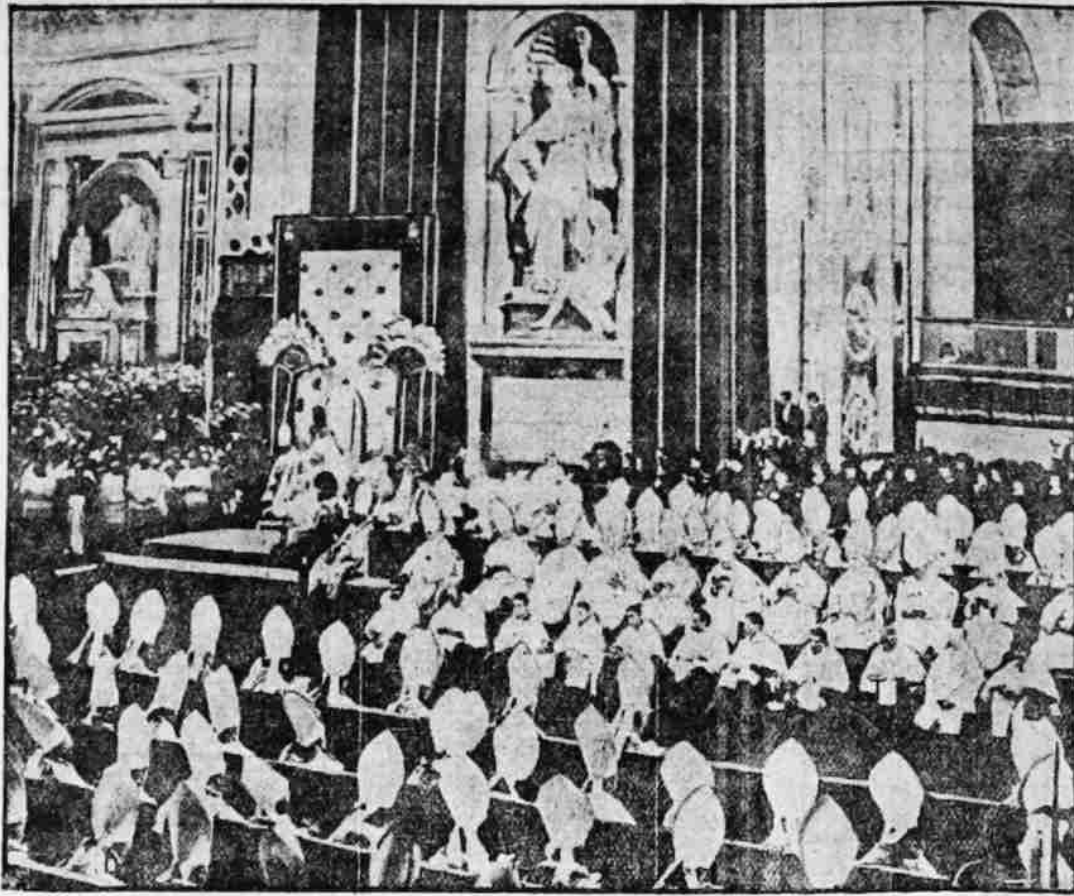

"Just Around the Corner," a beautiful story of New York's East Side tenement district, written by Fannie Hurst, pictured by Cosmopolitan Productions for Paramount, proved a thoroughly enjoyable feature at the Alhambra theatre yesterday. The theme has to do with the trials of a poor family, a mother, son and daughter, and of their ultimate triumph. There are numerous thrilling scenes and on the whole, the production is one of exceptional massiveness. The principal roles are admirably portrayed by Margaret Seddon, Lewis Sargent, Sigrid Holmquist and Fred C. Thompson.

TRouble EXPECTED
ON MEXICAN BORDER

MANHATTAN, Kans., Feb. 2.—"The assured promise for peace with Mexico is not as promising as recent reports would indicate," Major General James G. Harbord, assistant chief of staff, said in an address here before the student body at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"All through the border regions we have been warned up by committees requesting more troops than are now stationed there," he said.

THOUSANDS GREET
PRINCE OF WALES

INDORE, British India, Feb. 1.—The Prince of Wales arrived here today (Wednesday). He received a cordial welcome, thousands of persons lining the streets to greet him.

LAIPORE, India, Jan. 31.—Lajpat Rai, prominent Indian nationalist, who was sentenced early last month to six months' detention and a fine of 500 rupees under the sedition meeting act, and to one year's "rigorous imprisonment" under the Indian penal code, was released today but was re-arrested immediately and re-imprisoned under the criminal law amendment act.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 2.—Against the government's opposition, the Bengal legislative council today carried a resolution urging the withdrawal of the criminal law amendment act, the prevention of the seditious meetings act and the police prohibition of public assemblies, and recommending the immediate release of all those convicted under these acts.

FIVE CHILDREN DIE
AS BOMB EXPLODES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 2.—Five children were killed while playing in the yard of the school of Cruz de Galvez in Hermosillo, Mexico, when one of the students attempted to extract the powder from a bomb left there at the time Francisco Villa, with his forces, stormed the town, according to a dispatch received today in San Antonio by the newspaper La Prensa. The children were at play when one of their number found the grenade near the powder house in which an explosion recently took place. One of the children held the machine in his hands while another drew a nail into it so they could get the powder.

CALIFORNIA RABBI IN LIQUOR DISPUTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Rabbi Wolf E. Goldberg of Los Angeles complained in a letter received at prohibition headquarters here that a squad of 15 prohibition agents raided his synagogue while the congregation was at prayer and seized a quantity of sacramental wine, it became known today.

Los Angeles prohibition deputy at Los Angeles reported that Goldberg had sold wine to a woman prohibition agent in violation of the law permitting ten gallons of wine to be sold to each member of the congregation. The woman was not a member of the congregation, according to Wheeler. As a result of the affair, Thomas Brown, assistant prohibition director, has held up here a shipment of 500 gallons of wine intended for the Los Angeles synagogue.

VETERANS TRYING TO KEEP JAPS OUT

REDMOND, Ore., Feb. 2.—Five American Legion posts in central Oregon will oppose Japanese colonization on irrigated farm lands in the Deschutes Valley, through a central organization consisting of two representatives from each local organization, according to announcement here today.

WEAKNESS FOUND IN NEW SUBMERSIBLES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Stronger and heavier crankshafts will be placed in 12 submarines of the "S" type recently completed at the Pacific coast plant of the Electric Boat company, the navy having decided the shafts placed in the submersibles at the time of building to be too weak, it was said today at the navy department.
